Alex: Randy Weaver did say that the sheriff's deputy that came out to his house, without Randy even asking for him to come out, was a nice fella. I'm getting emails coming in that say things like this. "Alex, I just called and spoke to Mr. Tim Robertson, Chief Deputy of Boone County Sheriff's Department. He was very aware of the black issue being the person in black uniform. He sounds sympathetic towards our cause and realizes the U.S. has got a lot of problems, and agrees with me that Mr. Weaver is a true American patriot, and it goes on. I ask him if it was okay for you to call him, and he said that was fine. So he says they're doing everything they can to find out who the black SUV and the person in the black uniform is." So, yeah, Randy did give out their local's number but I think they're not involved in this. They're not behind it, so there's no reason to call and be mean to them. It does sound like the sheriff's department does not want any problems and he doesn't want any circuses and if Randy says the sheriff's deputy he talked to was pretty nice, that says a lot, so we'll try to track this as it develops.

Let's go ahead and talk to Charles in Florida. Charles, you're on the air.

Charles: Hello.

Alex: Hello, sir.

Charles: Hi Mr. Jones. Thank you so much for having me on. I want to say thank you for giving your life to this most noble cause. It is never the most popular.

Alex: Well, it wasn't when I started out, but let me tell you, this is an honor to do what I do. Nobody need thank me.

Charles: Well you really have a gift for seeing the big picture and I was looking into the FEMA camps and there's 800 with an average of 20,000 -- a capacity of 20,000 that would be 16 million and then I think there's one in Alaska that's supposed to be 2 million, so that would be 18 million total that they could hold there.

Alex: They have built giant federal processing centers that can process upwards of 8,000 a day, from Denver to outside of Oklahoma City, to D.C., to outside Dallas. I mean it's just everywhere.

Charles: I was wondering on a different not if you're familiar with the Masonic hand that took over the French Revolution?

Alex: Yes. What happened was our revolution was a good one and was based on good ideals. The Masonic revolution was occult in France. They tried to go to a 10-day week and a 9-day week. They tried to make everyone adopt occult worship. They would always claim they were anti-religion. It was the opposite and that's mainline French history; and they killed millions; and they started out with "oh let's kill the elites." It was actually being run by some of the princes and it was really a way to overturn some of the elite above them; and then it was about killing the middle class, and it was like Pol Pot. The illuminati always goes after the middle class and they killed several million people.

Charles: Yeah. I've been listening to you for a couple of years since I was in high school, and you know, as I learn more about the New World Order, I see more of your videos, it occurs to me the closer you get to I guess winning the war, the more progress you make the closer we get also to the dark times that you and Mr. Weaver had eluded to earlier. It's just the whole thing is so confusing, because I have the feeling if you are allowed to stay on air, saying what you say and knowing everything that you know, that at some level they're aware of that and they're letting you do it.

Alex: Well this is why -- they can't move against everyone yet, and there is too many other people who are just as smart or more intelligent than I am. We're about to have one of them on; and so they can't get us all. Ideas are bullet proof and they know that I've committed and they know come hell or high water, that I am committed to this fight and I believe in God and I'm trying to be a good person and I know they're evil and a lot of their own police and military are good people. Okay, a lot of people in the system are waking up. They may not be able to carry this out. You see they bought off the churches to tell everybody it's a foregone conclusion. I mean if you think you're going to lose a battle from the start of it and even if you're 10 to 1, and you've got the big guns, you're going to lose. It's called initiative. We have to get the initiative again, and realize that even, number one, they're misinterpreting the bible and lying, and saying we've got to lay down and go along with evil.

Let's say, regardless of the ends next year, we have a responsibility to fight evil-- and I don't -- listen, The Baptist Church came out Friday and said they're for blanket total amnesty in the amnesty bill. Okay, the Catholic Church has called for gun control in this country. I mean it's just -- our institutions have been taken over. They're totally bankrupt; and I want to know why the Baptist churches aren't talking about Dynacore and Halliburton running child-kidnapping rings. Well they're just going to ignore this, see, and then say, oh we've got to register all the kids in some Masonic DNA database that keep them safe from Al-Qaeda, when they are Al-Qaeda. We'll be right back.

Welcome back, ladies and gentlemen. Thank you for joining us. We're about to have a really amazing guest on. I've had him on before. He's Alan Watt, and we'll tell you all about him. I know we've got a lot of callers. We'll open phones while he's on with us as well, but I wanted him to go into some of the history of the New World Order, the whole eugenics background, the mass extermination plan. Why that's really their religion and what they're pushing towards; and what makes the enemy tick? Again, the stuff we're about to hear is documented. It's in history books. They wrote about it themselves. No matter how strange it sounds, it's real and it's verifiable, and so the police and military listening need to know who they're working for. So I know they won't listen now, but later they will. That's the key.

Let's go ahead and go to our guest now; and Alan Watt has really done his homework. See, my problem is I literally study until 2 to 3 in the morning, almost every night. Lately, I haven't been doing as much studying, as I'm editing on End Game, but that's studying, itself. I've even got freaked out more lately. I've been finding more quotes and then verifying the quotes. It's one thing to have the quote online, but to go read and then to find the audios of Zbigniew Brzezinski saying our government supported Pol Pot and kept him in power. They brag about it. I mean we're in trouble; and then I found out that they don't respect each other until they've engaged in mega deaths. That's like they actually honor and worship people who've been responsible for mass murder, and then to find their quotes on that. And to find all this out and to find out -- because years ago I read about Charles Darwin, the grandson of the supposed father of the theory of evolution. I'm not debating the theory of evolution. The point is that this is a religion and it goes back to the occult of how they're kind of growing to these different levels. They openly talk about sterilizing people and eugenics, and CPS started through that. Our whole architecture, everything you see is driven by this desire to set-up world government so they can orderly exterminate us down to 500 million, conservatively.

There's now big camps in the New World Order who want to kill down to only a few hundred thousand; and they think they're gods. They're totally sick, and they write about it. That's the thing, is police, military listening who don't believe me. You can verify this; and Alan Watt, of course, he has such a wide range when I've heard him on air and interviewed him here, read his website. I'm like, man, this guy really gets it. There's a lot of people out there that are full of boloney. A lot of people out there, who are either ego-maniacs, attack everybody in the movement. Not Alan Watt, he is just the real deal. Now I haven't had him turn around and bite me on the behind many times before, but he looks like the real deal. It's always great to have somebody up who really knows what they're talking about, and he can calmly go through it. Alan, thank you for coming on with us.

Alan: It's a pleasure to be on.

Alex: Tell folks a little bit about your website; and then let's just get into, in a nutshell, a crash course in this: What their mindset is. Who they are. Some of the citations and what we're facing.

Alan: Okay. What we're facing is a complete change in everything we've been taught to believe in, almost, to realize that this isn't a recent takeover of a system, but rather it's the upgrading of a system that was never ours. These guys have been at this for centuries and centuries, maybe even thousands of years, when you go back into the old Greek philosophers, with the whole philosophy or religion. It's one in the same thing, actually, that the power of might has the right to rule the lesser, and that the function of society, simply by studying the peoples, thousands of years ago, was for those who had the insight, the illumined ones, the ones who are brighter—they had the right to exploit those below that they claimed were lesser. They were the ones who didn't have the higher IQs, the ordinary people. It's a psychopathic elitist organization we're talking about that finds the study of nature in order to use it, to backup and rationalize what they're doing with the world. They believe they are gods, in a sense, because they are guiding the shape of the planet and the future of the whole of humanity.

Alex: Tell us about yourself. Breakdown how you woke up and then give us that condensed history; and then start up with the modern eugenics system where that comes from, because that's so key.

Alan: Yes. It's not even modern, again, it goes back to Plato, when he talked in "The Republic" about this beautiful utopia they would love to create, where the Guardians would be in charge of the whole world—the ultra-elite, who are inbred. He said it was very important they inbred to pass on their special genes. What he meant was their particular psychopathic traits of cunningness. He also talked about breeding the lesser people for specialized functions, by breeding them like animals, to make the tall people or short people for different functions. This was understood that this could be done, just by, simply, selective breeding and forced breeding. They've always been involved in the eugenics movement; and this came to the fore in the 1800's, more so, and in the 18th century.

Alex: By the way, that's why skeletons, say, dug up in Britannia, from 2,000 years ago, were about 5'8", 5'7" depending on the area, on average, but by the 1400's, after just 500, 600 years of feudalism, the average serf was about 5'2 male, but the average elite was above 6 feet. It's even their enjoyment to have these slaves be smaller than them, through feudalism, keeping them on tiny pieces of land, controlling and dominating them. That's why the Queen of England is into breeding today, with horses and dogs and everything else. It's their religion. Please continue.

Alan: It's a religion, and also you find when the Normans came in. See, the Normans really came in through Europe. This odd nation that sprung up with lots of money and a military of armored knights, and a huge treasure chest to fund mercenaries to go into the next country and the next country. They took over Europe, especially England, on a scale of World War II. They built floating barges that were acres and acres wide to carry forts across (wooden forts) and constructed them. This went on for years, with backup and munitions and all the rest of it. Incredible agenda; and they brought in this feudal system with them that really had come from the Middle East, where it had been tried and tested for thousands of years; and with that, they started to take an inventory of their conquered lands.

In Britain, it's called "The Domesday Book," so literally every man, woman, child, chicken, pig and cow was listed as property of the king. Then they started to confiscate the animals from the people and forced them on to a meager diet, and that's why they started to get shorter. The big joke amongst them, even today, is the "little people." They're not talking about fairies or elves. They're talking about the common people, because the elite, of course, had all the meat and they tend to be much, much larger; and that's why. This was a forced eugenics program, hundreds of years ago, and it hasn't stopped. Even in World War I, you'll find, when the British troops were being recruited for World War I, the average height was 5'2 and 5'3, and within four or five months of feeding on a military diet, they gained a minimum on average of 5 or 6 inches.

Alex: Please continue.

Alan: You find, again, it was around that time of World War I, the high Masonic societies, who put so much faith in science, believed that they could alter, again, by Plato's idea, the whole of the human world to serve their system in a better, more efficient way. They turned out book upon book on eugenics and special breeding; and that's when the American Eugenics Society sprung up, funded primarily by the Rockefellers. They've been behind it all for a long time in the U.S. side of things, but they're interrelated with the rest of them across the world. They even had their own magazine out every month on the perfect American families.

Alex: And of course, they funded the Kaiser Weilheims' society of eugenics and all the major arms that created the Nazi party, with the army intelligence officer, Adolph Hitler. Again, folks, this is what governs everything, the social workers, everything. This is where it comes from. Please continue.

Alan: Yes. Even in the medical books at the time, you'll find it was widespread. They went through the whole process of eliminating disease and inferior types of humans, by any means possible, to eliminate the bad gene pools, as they called it, the bad traits. That was taught from the 1900's onwards, for a long time. It fell away during World War II, because it was well known that Adolph Hitler did support the whole Darwinian eugenics program. I don't know if people realize that thousands of German psychiatrists joined the Nazi party because it fell right in with what they were being taught—that they could eliminate mental illness and low IQs by simple elimination of the people. They wouldn't allow them to breed, or they would sterilize them. Now they've already sterilized them in the U.S. under the same kinds of programs. I don't know if people realize that.

Alex: 45 plus thousand from the 1920's until the mid-1980's, and it's still going on quietly.

Alan: That's right. This is a eugenics program. This is what they really mean about how the study of genetics would cure all the world's ills. Well, it will, for them, when they make us all a specific type that will serve them much better, without the problems; and that's where they've been going steadily, ever since. All the different branches of the illuminati that sprung up were just branches of the higher Freemasonry at the time. Weishaupt's order was the Beenan Order, the Order of the Bees. They had the beehive as the symbol of the perfect society.

Alex: The fleur-de-lis.

Alan: Yeah, and it goes all the way back to Egypt, too. The fleur-de-lis initiated in Egypt. You'll see it in the top of their columns; and also it's the trinity. It's the perfect unification of body, soul, spirit; whereas the ordinary person, supposedly -- this is what they joked amongst themselves. The ordinary person didn't have spirit but they just had soul, which was nothing much; and so there's all this propaganda to reinforce what they believed in; and they always recruited from the universities.

Alex: It's also the perfect rationalization for all the wicked things they do; they're the guardians of the Earth. But, in reality, they do everything they can do to dumb people down. They're threatened by intelligence. The truth is they're trying to continue a monopoly. Now I want to go back though, if we can now. People have the general view; and of course, I historically agree with everything you're saying, because it's what they admit. Let's go back though and look at Charles Darwin first, and walk through their open breeding program only into, what, two other families?; and then Charles's grandson and then "The Next Million Years," and how that ties into Dr. Bianca saying "kill 90% of the public." He, of course, is at UT, and where all this is going and how far away they are from being able to launch their main operation.

Alan: What they claimed was, in the 1700's, is that the future they envisaged will be one where those families who had acquired wealth and power, and managed to hold onto it by selective breeding. Picking their wives for special qualities similar to themselves, they had the right to rule the future; and Charles Darwin's family only intermarried with the Wedgwood family for about four or five generations.

Alex: And now, they're completely mentally ill basket cases.

Alan: Yeah. Charles's own 10 children all died, two of them in a mental hospital; and then his wife died. She was a Wedgwood. He then married his mother's sister, who was a Wedgwood; and his father, of course, married a Wedgwood; and his grandfather married a Wedgwood. They were already practicing this inbreeding program to try and regain what they thought was their intellect. They believed that's why they had that cunningness, that power of insight. However, in fact, when psychiatrists study it, what they're looking at are really the rationalizations of the psychopath.

Alex: Well, you're right, and again, massive inbreeding does actually lower IQ and cause all sorts of physical illnesses, not just mental. Studying a lot of the eugenicists in this country, most of them ended up in mental institutions, because their families had already been secretly breeding for, in some cases, thousands of years. They're just completely psychopathic control freaks. That, of course, in this gene line, this obsessive compulsive, obsessed with order--and they like to kill people as their main trait. We'll be right back.

Just like a lot of hybrid breeds of dog, basically, the breed just dies out. They become so mentally ill. They're so many genetic problems; and imagine, the elite are still following a plan that was faulty science, from thousands of years ago. Read Plato's Republic. Read it all, about how they are elite and how they've been inbreeding with the traits that let their great, great, great grandpas, be it travel, chief tenor, you know, be good at banking. Yeah, they had some strong traits that were good at something, and then they just keep breeding others who are more aggressive and they lose -- they're supposed to be balanced -- supposed to be aggressive, but then also be a loving person, but no, not these people. And again, I want to be clear.

Most Masons are not even real Masons. They're porch Masons. They're not even in the higher levels; and so I want to be clear, when Masons tune in, they think, oh, they're saying "Masons run it all," and then they'll come back with, "well, the founding fathers were Masons." Yeah, most of them were low-level and being co-opted. They weren't fully co-opted like the French Revolution. I want to get our guest to talk about that some, and make a differential there, because the elites are always trying to take over any movement and influence it; and the elites will occasionally do good things, because they'll try to do it for evil or for control and it will turn into good. They're not perfect. They're not invincible. By the way, Norman Mineta news from WeAreChanged. It's going up on JonesReport.com right now. Norman Mineta, Transportation secretary, with new bombshell info. That's coming up near the end of the show today. We will be covering that and we'll get Alan's take on that as well.

Alan, we're breaking here in a few minutes, but, again, do you want to comment on any of the things I've said or correct anything?

Alan: The Masons must realize that they needed a middle class for the industrial era. That's why they gave, for the first time, what's known as Freemasonry to people who are not of noble birth, because the nobles already have their orders, going all the way back to ancient times. The Romans had the Equestrian Order for the nobility; and it's never been any different.

Alex: The CFR symbol is the Equestrian Order symbol from Rome.

Alan: That's right, and that's what you see now. However, they needed a sifting pool for the brighter ones in the ordinary people, because they had to recruit, they knew what the future would be; military leaders and police leaders, authoritarian leaders to manage the peoples for the world they envisaged coming. Therefore, they looked for an order where people could keep secrets, and they'd be tested to see if they could keep secrets, and those who do keep the secrets and take the little bribes that do come their way. I have no problem in understanding and believing that. I know they do; and many of them have told me. They get bank loans instantaneously and so on, even on the lower levels. They take these little bribes and keep their mouths shut, and if they're really good and they need them for managing the public, even a local newspaper editor, he'll be recruited and pushed upstairs, as they say, or put into a side order, which goes much higher. It's a sifting process of who they can use.

Alex: Exactly. It's like little Russian dolls—systems within systems, pyramids within pyramids, all nexusing up to higher levels. Studying the Masons, of course, in some of the old orders there's 360 degrees, with Lucifer at the 360. How high, from your study, do the humans go in the order, because that they place goddesses and gods on the [Panoptigon]?

Alan: Once you get to the [Quaternary], which is the 40th degree, you're into the lower gods. Remember, the Elohim and the angels this is modeled after. This is esoteric meaning behind it. There's orders of angels all the way up to the illumined gods; and that's what they use it after. It's modeled on that. "Life begins at 40," you see.

Alex: Yeah. There's several different schools of it, but it all goes with the circle or the snake eating itself. We'll be right back with Alan Watt, who will tell you about his website and what he does. He's just a really great researcher, honored to have him on. Big Norman Mineta news coming up, and they're openly saying they want to shutdown talk radio.

Well we've had Alan Watt on before, but not often enough. I've got to have him on regularly. You can visit inforwars.com and link over to his website. It's excellent. Alan, before we continue or go on any further, tell the folks again a little bit about yourself and about your website, and some of the great DVDs and audios that you offer.

Alan: If they go into cuttingthroughthematrix.com or the European site it's: alanwattsentientsentinel.eu, there's a lot there. Lots of talks I've given they can download for free; and I cover a lot of this history, a lot of the big players in it. I use the quotes. I use their books, and so I don't speculate. I use their information that they put out themselves, at the top level, to show you. That way there's no debate on this.

Alex: Well here's an example. Helmut Schmidt, German Chancellor, back in the '80's, he writes a book, "Men and Power: A Political Retrospective," and he says, "we do druidic rituals in the groves in Germany, but I like doing the rituals the most in Northern California." There he is, saying, it's a ritual, they take it serious, where they tell the public, "Oh, it's just a play."

Alan: Yes. They always have the two versions, but for themselves, it is very, very serious. When grown men take oaths of killing each other, should they break the oath, they take that seriously; and they have so much to hide from the general public, they must at that level. They must take it seriously. They all know. They all know what they're doing is wrong in the public's eyes, but being psychopathic, they're quite happy to go along with it and keep their mouths shut. Psychopaths have no conscience, we must remember. They don't have guilt trips about anything.

Alex: They also have a lot of sociopaths in their servant class, and then they have people who are afraid, who make the decision to join them. There are a lot of intelligent people I've talked to, said, "look, I've joined the New World Order because people are dangerous."

Alan: I've talked to some young people who've told me, "I want to join the winning side," and they think they're intellectuals. Some are at universities. Some have been approached to join the CFR, while at university, from big families, old families. They've told me quite plainly that they'll join the winning team. Again, that is a psychopathic trait.

Alex: They say, "I'm joining the winning team," and you're right. They'll say, "but that's our strength, is that we're going to kill you." I'm sorry, go ahead.

Alan: Yeah, that's just the thing. Even Plato said it. He said from the ordinary people (he called them: the its); the ordinary people were called its. They were not considered as people; and the brighter ones at the upper classes of the its, he said they would test—today we call it scholarships. That's what universities are for, too. The brighter ones are then recruited, given scholarships and brought in to be the servant class of the bureaucracies, which run this whole system; and they've been doing that for a long, long time, too.

Alex: By the way, the big secret is -- and my dad's been to big corporate high-level training seminars on recruiting, and they openly say, "the New World Order has, by design..."-- this is in major meetings. The New World Order -- this is in mainline corporate meetings. The New World Order has destroyed the general public's cognitive capacity, by design. They overdid it. Now we're headhunting and the home-schoolers are the best, but we even buy up the home-schoolers that aren't that good, because it shows that they're basically free agents; and so every home-schooler I know gets double, triple full tuitions when other people don't, because they're just trying to get the people that almost escaped them.

Alan: That's right; and again, too, they have tests in school. People don't realize they're being tested all the time. It's even more so now. Every year you're tested and psychologically tested; and they're also looking for the psychopathic types that do better with their marks at school, to recruit into being servants for them. These are the guys who become the bureaucrats for them in the federal bureaucracies and local bureaucracies.

Alex: That's why they're giving complex psychological tests in every major public school in the Western world, and now Asia, to build key cores of functionaries, bureaucrats, technocracy, functionaries, but also technicians of death. We'll be right back. Now into hour number three; eight minutes into it. Huge developments for Norman Mineta, former transportation secretary, being asked about, "Was Dick Cheney with the Pentagon? Was he ordering a shoot-down, saying it still stood, or is he saying that it's not a shoot down order?" He said, "No, it definitely was not a shoot down order. Whatever the orders were, it wasn't a shoot down." That's confirming that the orders still stood. The guys walking in saying, "it's 50 miles out; it's 20 miles out; it's 10 miles out. Does it still stand? Yeah, you heard the orders. Have you heard everything else to the contrary?" He also confirmed that Cheney didn't know if Flight 93 had been shot down over Shanksville, and said, let's find out, because the order Cheney, two months before, had taken the powers from the Pentagon away. They'd always been able to shoot down aircraft before, but he'd taken the powers away from them, conveniently.

Just on the subject of 9/11, Alan Watt, give us your take on that.

Alan: It was a plan waiting to happen, as I say, because the "Project for a New American Century" and all those connected with it had put out their agenda for the 21st century. They said it would be an America's century, but they would need something that would happen to motivate the American public behind them in a war against Afghanistan, Iran, Iraq and Syria; and lo and behold, as Arthur C. Clarke correctly wrote in his book "2001," you get 9/11; and this second part of this phase has started. That's what "2001" was all about, with Clarke who is a very high Mason.

Alex: He was also the "inventor" of the telecommunications satellite. Yeah, let's go back. Tell the folks about the Darwin's, about Clarke, about H.G. Wells, who wrote books like "The New World Order". He wrote a bunch of non-fiction books. They're futurists. That's how Huxley, in the early '30s, could write "Brave New World," and before he died, in '62, he spoke at Berkeley and said, "No, this is the real plan."

Alan: Yeah, that's a fact. In the early 1800's, the Rothschild's put up the first foundation for novelists and writers; and they started off with what was the embryo of the Futurists Society, which they all belong to now; and all the budding young guys were either picked at school to go, like H.G. Wells was. He was trained by Huxley's grandfather and picked by Huxley's grandfather, Thomas, who was the champion of Darwin and the best pal of Darwin; and they picked these particular guys. They would say, "Look, we want you to write a story and put in these particular topics," because that's what was called predictive programming. They'd write a little fascinating story to captivate the youth. In the story, you're being downloaded with possible ideas, which you will then accept as quite a natural progression when you see them come out, in actuality, in your lifetime. That's predictive programming.

However, they also wrote a lot of non-fiction books; and H.G. Wells, for instance, wrote "The History of the World Part 1 and 2". He puts the whole eugenics program in his book (that he believed in) and even had all the races down, before Adolph Hitler, which would be exterminated and those that should be saved; and it's all according to economic value to the system. He even had the Irish down there at one point. These guys work for massive think tanks. Today, pretty well all the novelists and sci-fi writers belong to the Futurists Society, where they give them their orders.

Alex: Who do the Illuminati believe the elite race or races are?

Alan: H.G. Wells did label them according to their help. He said, "We need economists and those who are experts in finance and economics." He says, "Therefore, those families who are high up (meaning an aristocracy) within the Judaic people will control the finances." He then went on to list other ones, where inventions came out of (people who churned out inventors) et cetera.

Alex: By the way, they're writing all of this. This is H.G. Wells, folks, "War of the Worlds," "Time Machine," all of this. They're saying all of this--

Alan: --In a non-fiction book.

Alex: But then, we're bad to talk about it.

Alan: That's right; and H.G. Wells, in the society he was recruited into and trained in, they gave them all red ties to wear, for the color of the Masonic Revolution. They created communism on the basis of it in the West—not in the Soviet Union—and they did fund the whole Soviet structure into being, the dialectic.

Alex: What about Marx and Engels being funded out of London?

Alan: Yes.

Alex: I mean, you can read the French Revolution propaganda, and it's communism. That stuff is not new.

Alan: That's right. It was the same thing. It was the same format, right down to killing off the masses of the peasants, because in the French Revolution, what's not talked about much is the fact they had a map already drawn out, and the mountain, as they called it, the part of their Parliament system, when they took over, drew out this map. They had the ideal populations for every area of France, and they started to cull off the excess populations.

Alex: Now what they do is, in this system, what they see is a country, they exterminate. They get control and then they create a dictator to use the nation as an engine to wage war, which kills the neighbor population and more of the internal population. Enter Napoleon.

Alan: That's right. Napoleon himself had a lot of supporters in Britain. People don't realize that, because this whole structure was based on this in-between of communism and capitalism, called socialism. Bonapartism was a very popular movement, even in Britain. He united all the small countries in preparation for them being absorbed into the other soviet block. He united Italy. He united Germany. Without him, there would have been no World War I or II. These are all far-reaching plans, and these guys are intergenerational planners. They know if they start this now, they can pull this off in three, four generations down the road.

Alex: Absolutely. Maybe even sooner; and for those that just joined us, this is written. This is stated. When you hear the term eugenics or bioethics today—that is the religion and the blueprint for the societal engineering. It is the ultimate power trip of these sickos, and you need to understand for those who say, “oh, something can't be intergenerational.” Yale, Harvard, Princeton or Oxford in England. It's just like university. It grows. The people have been sitting in the positions of power. They fund themselves, fund their names as the institution grows, as they grow. Family names are associated with it, so just at a university can be 500 years old, and own half the land in a major city, and have hundreds of billions of investments, like the University of Texas alone. That's just one mode of this, you see; and then that's where the different globalists, when they go in and out of government, sit in media or in the universities; it's kind of that trifecta.

Let's launch forward with Alan Watt, what you think is going to happen, breaking down? Are they facing resistance? Are they getting more resistance than they thought? Is their program seven years behind? Are people breaking out of the matrix -- cuttingthroughthematrix as you say, and what's the hope at the end of the tunnel? Breakdown what their master plan is, where they're going. If they could have what they wanted now, what they would do, and what you, realistically, think they'll be able to do?

Alan: I don't think they're behind, to be honest with you. They've been preparing for this part of it for 100 years. We've seen the build up of internal military armies (that they call police now), with two sets of uniforms—one for the street and one for the combat, and training them all for these multi-jurisdictional task forces. They even send them over to the Middle East to get experience in knocking down doors and killing people.

Alex: Battle hardened.

Alan: This has been the strategy. They denied all this in the '80's. Some of us spoke out in the '80's about this. We knew it was happening; and they denied they even had an MJTF. Now they publicly print it in their own papers, so they're way ahead. They understand this. In 2010, they hope to have the unification of the Americas completed. In 2012, with more chaos, they want the United Nations to be declared their official front-man; and that's what it's set-up for.

Alex: They're going to use the manmade global warning hoax as their planning mechanism. Meanwhile, the army just dropped 63 million gallons of solid nerve gas into the ocean, killing everything. By the way, that's mainstream news, but that's not a problem. Carbon dioxide, a life giving gas, is what they're going to tax, is the ultimate global feudal tax. Go ahead.

Alan: It's been a war on all necessities for individual life. That's just it. The term "interdependence" goes back all the way to John Dee at Queen Elizabeth's I. Court, in the 16th century. They said they'd bring a new system of free trade as they promoted this new system of Great Britain or the British Empire across the world.

Alex: That's really to make everybody dependent upon them.

Alan: Yes. It was also to rob the people of their ability, eventually, to sustain themselves uniquely as individuals. That's the key. To be tied into the system is their goal. Chopping wood will be outlawed under this Kyoto. Anything where you can actually heat yourself, feed yourself, independently of this system, is going to be illegal. You must be dependent on them for all of those things.

Alex: This is the big feudalism move. This is the great leap forward. The cultural revolution in China. This is what Hitler did. It's what Stalin did. The collectivization of the Western world under Kyoto, folks. You thought it was just a gas tax. Now it's one-child policies. We're going to tax you if you have more than one child. Oh, you can't have plastic bottles. Oh, you've got to spay and neuter. You've got to track all your animals on your farm. It's total feudalism being launched right now.

Alan: Yes it is. It's the whole kit and caboodle, out in the open now. It's just like if you looked at the Soviet system, that was a big test bed to iron out all the problems. It's being used here now, even some friends of Gorbachev have come out and said really that what the west has now is an updated form of the Soviet, with their special NGO groups purportedly speaking on behalf of the public. NGO groups which are authorized by the United Nations and are unelected by any public.

Alex: These non-governmental organizations like, locally, SOS and the rest of the land seizer. We'll be back with Alan Watt. This is again the reality. It's what we face. We'll be right back. All right, going back to Alan Watt. Alan, we could talk for a hundred hours; and I've got to continue to have you back up. You're coming back in the next segment with us, too. You're not leaving us. It's just so horrible seeing them brag about it in front of our face doing this, openly doing all these horrible things. Dick Cheney saying he's above the presidency and he can do whatever he wants on purpose, that they do that. They, on purpose, put articles in the Chicago Tribune saying they kidnap millions of children and women and take them to rape facilities. I mean, you can't make this stuff up. They, purposely, 4 trillion is missing from the Pentagon. They purposely are just flaunting it, but at the same time, Alan, people are waking up. People are saying no. Congress has got a 14% approval rating. At least people aren't being -- I mean, I do see an awakening. Do you have any hope or what are you seeing?

Alan: It will take a big and a different kind of an awakening, too, because you see, most of the public don't realize that the culture we have today was given to us. This has been well-studied, again, that when psychopaths take over or even give you a structured system, the culture they give out to the people below them is also a form of psychopathy. It's a very hardened structure. It has no empathy for weak people, the disabled et cetera.

Alex: Jack Bauer torturing children every hour.

Alan: Yes, exactly.

Alex: Giving us their mindset.

Alan: Yes, and unfortunately, a lot of people who grew up in it, even if they're technically normal, will accept that as being the norm and get recruited into these organizations. If you notice, it's not just that they're torturing people in the 21st century that's astounding to a civilized person. It's the fact that they have no problem getting the recruits to do it. Where did they get them from? They get them from all the lower classes, generally, from the military. They always have. There's no shortage of them because they create a generation who've been brought up in single-family homes, no father. They've been brought up on war video games, where the object is to kill, kill, kill—invented to desensitize troops for training in the military so they would kill. They have created the very culture they needed for this particular time in history, to use against the people. We are in bad straits that way. What we have to do now is appeal to the conscience in people and get it in.

Alex: They also train people not how to work together and be a bunch of greedy rats too.

Alan: Yes it's true enough. It's a psychopathic dog-eat-dog culture, survival of the fittest. When we lose our compassion and our ability to empathize with others, we have already lost, even if nothing happens beyond that. That's the first battle. If we can retain that and win that battle, we can win the rest.

Alex: Alan, this is how I see it breaking out. They'll stage more terror attacks in the next decades, even bigger ones in the next five or ten years, maybe even sooner. We'll get put into more and more compact cities. More and more controlled, always in the name of safety; then more attacks, more attacks and then finally just more and more controlled bio-releases. I don't see them culling us off in three generations. They're openly talking about bringing us down to 500 million in the next 20 years.

Alan: The Ministry of Defense (The British Department of Defense), the highest think tank they have for the British realm--

Alex: They put out the new Emergency Report a few months ago saying -- tell them what it says.

Alan: It's 90 pages, and they put nine (9) in the newspapers. I have the full 90 on my website in the archives. They're talking about what they foresee in the upcoming 20 to 30 years.

Alex: Yeah, I read the whole thing, too. Just on record, what he says is accurate. Go ahead.

Alan: And they go on about: there'll be flashmobs of people. It doesn't say they'll be unemployed or whatever, but when you understand, something really awful would have to happen to make Joe and Jack Six Pack actually get away from the television; maybe no television. Maybe that would be the motive--

Alex: But then they try to claim that all revolution will be Marxist, so they're already trying to claim the new revolution won't be a legitimate one. They're going to hijack it when the [commosori] is over. Go ahead.

Alan: Yes. They'll also give the leaders to the ones who are rebelling, so that they don't get to the destination they thought they'd end up in. That's classic too. The Soviets did the same thing. They had the names of all the revolutionaries that helped on the lower levels, then they killed them all off once the revolution was over. This is an old technique, to be reused again.

Alex: We can't think we're fighting the New World Order and call for a violent overthrow and then quote some new general pops up who's a patriot, it will be even worse.

Alan: Exactly, exactly. They also said they expected—because of the fact they are creating and really speeding up the process of a multi-cultural global society—that there'll be flashmobs and race riots as they merge the people. They're going to use Neutrino bombs (this is from the government) on those particular groups of people, when required. I mean, this is amazing.

Alex: Tell the people what Neutrino bombs are. This is an official Ministry of Defense report, and this is what they say they believe. They're projecting. They say, "We believe this will happen." Their past reports have been accurate. Of course, they're orchestrating all of it, so they know. Neutrino bombs. They've got helicopters in every major city rigged with knockout gas, right now. Folks, all I know is the globalists doll up everything they do; and I just know it brings pain and misery and evil; and I know these people are sick; and I know they've got to be stopped; and I do have faith. I know we'd be in a much worse position if good people hadn't stood up and fought since the beginning of time.

But I want all the young people to know: your style, your fashion, the destructive things you do, everything we're under is literally weapons being used against you and your family. They're engaging in eugenics right now, with the different compounds that are in the vaccines, the water, the air, the environment. Again, they're doing so many environmental things with the chimeras, to genetic engineering, dumping stuff in the ocean. You know it's illegal for them to just go out in the ocean and dump whatever they want. It's off the chart; and they've got you giggling -- I mean, they're giggling at you; then we've got to have a global tax for carbon dioxide. That's what you exhale, folks. It's a tax on breathing.

I mean, it's a big joke to them. They've got you dumbed-down like primitives, where the witch doctor would say, "give me all the power or the sun won't come back during an eclipse." That's all it is; and now they say, "we need to normalize the climate." Well, the climate is never normal. It's never one way. They are, literally, just using ancient witch doctors scams on you; and I don't think the elite control everything. I think they're out of control. They're genetic engineering and the rest of it endangers even them. Most of them end up in mental institutions. They're not omni-present. They're not all powerful. They learned how to con people. They learned how human activity operates, thousands of years ago. They've got a big jump on us, but they've made a lot of mistakes, Alan. I think that we're in danger. We talk about neutron bombs or neutrino bombs. They now have developed anti-matter weapons. Top physicists say they can cause a chain reaction and destroy the whole solar system, or create a black hole or worse. I think they are the biggest threat to humanity. What do you say?

Alan: They are. They've tested out their HAARP technology. Actually, I've got all the frequencies for the short-wave (where you can pick it up). If anybody wants it, they can get in touch with me. They'll hear the HAARP being used 24 hours a day, but they've also used the HAARP technology, the standing waves, to cause explosions in the atmosphere. That was the very reason why Tesla stopped experimenting, because he was afraid that we could superheat the atmosphere to such an extent, it would explode and catch fire. Two or three years ago, you might remember, there was an odd phenomena where, supposedly, all the experts that were hurriedly brought in said, "oh it must have been a giant meteorite over British Columbia down into Washington State." It set off fire alarms and shop alarms, all the way down. However, none of the radar characters or the astronomical crew actually saw anything coming in. What they were really doing was testing this technology to cause explosions in the atmosphere. Then, a week later, I listened to the Australian news, and lo and behold, they had the same phenomena happening over a good part of Australia. They have been testing these weapons out for a long time, and they've been using the populations over areas to be the guinea pigs for them. That's been declassified here.

The town of Espanola (that's not far from me) was used as the guinea pigs for the heavy spraying a few years ago. They sprayed day after day. It was the U.S. planes in conjunction with authority from the Canadian government that came up and sprayed them. The women were having stillbirths. Even the deer in the fields were having stillbirths. The people of Espanola took it right up to the Supreme Court in Canada, and it was admitted there, "yes, this was an experiment carried out by the U.S. military on the public," but they couldn't give them anymore details as to what was used in the chemicals, because of "reasons of national security." We are the enemy to them. They have no countries at the top. They are internationalists; and the peasant of America or Canada is on no higher a scale than the peasant of China or India to them. We are their enemy, and they're testing this stuff out on us all the time.

Alex: Well you're absolutely right, and I am just so upset by the fact, that as a society we face this. Alan, but again, to them, we're weak because we're upset by all the bad things they're doing and we emphasize with fellow humans. For them, that is a great weakness. I am sympathetic because it upsets us; and God, I just can't believe it. I look at all the happy little children. I look at all the beauty in the world, and then there's this great evil running things, and they just go on and on and kill whoever they want and do whatever they want.

Alan: Cold-blooded and it's psychopathic there, to be interested to study up the long term health effects on those people throughout their lives. This is how they get fascinated. When they were children they probably picked the legs of insects, you know, or stuck pins on them and put them on their collection boards. These characters are really deviant creatures, you understand. The psychopath is a deviant.

Alex: Well, my analogy is they're a cancer. The cancer thinks it's dominant, as if it was conscious. It's taking over and nothing can stop it. But really, it's killing the host. It's malfunctioning. It's not elite.

Alan: There's a lot of them now. They have lots of recruits from the lower classes, so they look for the psychopathic people within all classes, because they do exist, all through the strata. They recruit them to be their hench-boys, their military, their hardened cops—the new SS. That's who are recruited, the psychopathic types, and they give them tests when they go into the military to find out which ones are psychopathic.

Alex: Oh, yes; and they ask them, "will you fire on Americans?" and 70 plus percent say no. They go get deadly shocked, shipped overseas to breathe radiation, but those that say yes get a plain-clothes uniform, and they're driving around, right now, in black ground rigs.

Alan: They even had a program on the BBC, on how they found the people to work on the nuclear submarines, who would eventually use nuclear missiles; and this was at the Holy Loch at Scotland, where the U.S. base was. The American commander of the base said, "we give them a test to find out which ones are psychopathic. They will obey any order that their boss gives them because we pay them." In other words, the only respect that the psychopath had (the guy who would turn the key and launch the missile) was to his paymaster.

Alex: Well, it's like a tiger eating the Christians, or a lion to feed them. Give us your website. I want to get you back up in the next few weeks, and this time I mean it, Alan. Tell the folks about your website.

Alan: I'm on cuttingthroughthematrix.com and alanwattsentientsentinel.eu and they can download a lot of these facts and books that I quote from, for free; and I've also two or three things there for sale, which keeps me ticking over.

Alex: People should support you. I want to get you back up in the near future; and God bless you. Thank you for spending time with us.

Alan: Thanks for having me on.
